

---

Retail stores/ grocery stores

Posted by Salidamama - 2008/08/08 00:26

---

I believe walmart and winco have enough Tracy residents to support them. My family lives in the country and very close to the mall. Both stores would be a great asset to them. We need more growth near the malls. We have enough motels there and they need to eat and shop. i would love to see superwalmart and winco come soonly to Tracy. Manteca is sure growing fast and Tracy will soon fall off soonly. We need more people to visit our town and spend their money on the outskirt stores. Now our economy is bad and we need more affordable stores. Family's need other alternatives to shop cheaper.

=====

Re:Retail stores/ grocery stores

Posted by stevewells - 2008/08/09 18:33

---

:S

I think you need to seriously educate yourself.

This country is in the midst of a severe recession that will turn into a depression. The media has been silent and in case you havent noticed Americans need to stop the destructive spend ,spend spend attitude and start to realize that consuming is what has got this country into the grave mess it is into today.

The dollar is about ready to collapse and no one even knows enough about our monetary system to understand that our actions are only going to come back to bite us in the ass.

There is a term that applies to many Americans for being dumbed down and not understanding the world in which they live the term is called sheeple. Sheeple are people willing to follow their government where ever they are led and it seems to me you are ready and willing to be led to the slaughter.

Fascism is here and you salidamama are the people this corporate ran government love, thanks for supporting the destruction of freedom and liberty by purchasing crap that isnt needed so they can further there agenda to become a one world government. You are a slave.

=====

Re:Retail stores/ grocery stores

Posted by Salidamama - 2008/08/13 21:31

---

Sorry you feel the way you do:) Not all people are scum and homeless like you.

=====