
Format refresh

There were several recent changes to the online edition that have reduced the quality of the user experience:

- (1) We lost the ability to go to past versions of the paper
- (2) All of the content doesn't show up on the online version, especially the Voice columns.
- (3) Letters to the Editor get combined into one link.

Hope you can fix these issues.

I hope that we will be able to read the on-line the day of publication and not the prior day. By Friday, Thursday is old news.

I would like to second the call for a separate link for each letter to the editor. It is more fun to read those letters, and see Benigno, Hardesty, and the others who comment on every letter every day flaming each other

I'm really not a big fan of the refresh. They have WAYYYYYY too much clutter on the main page. The obits section should be changed back to the way it always has or atleast have all the obits for the month on the same page as the search engine.

I feel overwhelmed when i open up www.tracypress.com....anyone else feel that way?

Thanks for the input - keep it coming.

We're working out the kinks, as usual!
